

Baci

Carrying clothes with a kiss of Europe, Vittoria Colantuono, owner of this Beachwood, Ohio, boutique, prides herself on providing key pieces with a timeless look. The store steers clear of knickknacks, allowing customers to indulge in the beautiful clothing from European designers, including Jean Bourget and Floriane. With clothes for infants through boys' size 6 and girls' size 12, Baci attracts customers seeking special occasion wear and everyday items with a touch of Old World flair.

Littlest Details

After many requests that she expand her home goods and gift shop's baby section in another store, owner Lori Miles opened a store catering only to kids' apparel and accessories. The 3,600-square-foot store in Avon, Ohio, gives parents one-stop shopping with a mix of unique clothing usually only available in tiny, pricey boutiques. Featuring boys' and girls' sizes newborn to 4 as well as décor items, Littlest Details' airy atmosphere makes browsing a breeze.

Sunbeam

This Main Street children's shop in Cleveland Heights, Ohio, gets its name from its employees' cheery dispositions and its sunny interior, which welcomes customers in search of clothes not found at big-box stores. Sunbeam also carries a variety of bedding, toys and books. Manager/buyer Janet Nelson sees a lot of repeat customers for newborn apparel up to a boys' 7 and girls' 14. The 1,100-square-foot boutique has become especially popular for its preppy clothes and variety of gifts.
